

#BeingBlackMeans

“#Beinginternationalmeans the respect towards other cultures and nationalities, as I would expect for mines from others. It means positively contributing to make Scotland a diverse, inclusive, fairer and tolerant country, along with those of different nationalities, cultures and religions, who share the same values of peace, cohesion and coexistence. Living in a 21st century interconnected world, being international is inevitable, especially in a multicultural environment.”

-Ammar Khan