

#BeingBlackMeans

“The black community today is facing two major issues: identity and structural crisis which are holding us back.

First we strive to be everyone else but ourselves.

Second, we don't know how to create and transfer wealth from one generation to the next. Until we collectively solve these detrimental issues, we won't live up to our full potential.”

-Bubacari Marega