

Eric John Stockley

LGBTQ Officer

I believe that we are who we are, inside and out, for a reason. We are here to educate each other, to be different, to stand out from the masses, to set an example for future generations and to show the world we are beautiful.

As your LGBTQ+ Officer I would pledge to:

- To strive for full representation & equality across all demographics, working with all other student officers, representatives and UAL staff. I would like to work with the advertising/media students & staff to produce a campaign that encourages all ethnic backgrounds, genders, religions & LGBTQ+ members to apply.
- To tackle and highlight inequality not just within the university but outside of it as well. Using my various platforms, online and physically, to bring attention to national & international challenges the LGBTQ+ community faces.
- To make use of my spoken word & performing experience to effectively communicate important issues that need to be discussed.
- To work with the counselling, chaplaincy & other student advice services to assess key areas in where students struggle most, and how this can be combatted. Employing my own struggles with anxiety, depression and abuse to form an empathetic approach to delicate subject matters.

I have worked tirelessly to grasp at every opportunity in life to proudly represent the LGBTQ+ community. Be it partaking in international ad campaigns, performing regularly in London or being involved in documentaries, films & upcoming talk shows. I will fight for us all. Inside and out.
