SOCIETY FOR DEVELOPMENTAL BIOLOGY

EDINBURGH MEETING 26th - 28th MARCH 1969

The fifteenth meeting of the Society for Developmental Biology will be held jointly with the Genetical Society and will take place in Edinburgh.

Provisional Programme

Wednesday 26th March

Special sessions on 'Nucleic Acid Hybridization' and on 'Genetic Information in Early Development'.

Thursday 27th March

Special session on 'Gene Expression During Development'.
The Mendel Lecture by Professor Ernst Hadorn. (Title to be announced later).

Friday 28th March

General contributions from members of each Society in parallel session.

The meeting will be held in the Appleton Tower and accommodation will be available in the Pollock Halls. There will be a reception at the Institute of Animal Genetics on Wednesday evening and Dinner at the Edinburgh Zoo on Thursday evening. The local secretary for the meeting is Dr. J. C. Campbell (Institute of Animal Genetics, West Mains Road, Edinburgh 9).

The organization of this meeting will involve the Societies in a certain amount of advanced booking of accommodation and other expenses, and on this occasion those who wish to attend the meeting will be asked to pay a Registration Fee of £1. This will be refunded to members of the Society for Developmental Biology.

Members who wish to contribute to the sessions should submit titles and abstracts (about 50 words) of their papers to the Secretary of the Society before Wednesday 5th February.
