

PC Liz and PCSO Jackie pop in for a visit

PCSO Jackie popped in to Foundation Stage whilst we were eating our snack, she reminded us about being safe near roads and around cars and promised to come back soon for a longer visit with her Colleague PC Liz.

When Jackie and Liz both came to visit they brought with them lots of hats for us to try on and showed us all the different things on their uniform and how their handcuffs work, they even let us talk to the lady in the control room on their special radios.

They answered all our questions about everything to do with police work, from how to catch bad guys to what they keep in their pockets. Liz told us that police officers work hard to help keep people safe and that even though sometimes police officers have to go places that might be scary they are always there to help make things better especially if they are helping children.

Liz and Jackie were very kind and friendly. They asked us about the rules we have that help to keep us safe at school and they told us about the rules called laws that adults have to help keep everyone safe.

After their visit we got out our police costumes and pretended we were police officers. We wrote down some of our rules and the address of the next place we needed to go to and help people.

We are lucky to have people like Liz and Jackie to help us when we need it.
