Class News

Class Lynher - Yesterday, we painted winter versions of Salvador Dali's painting, 'The Persistence of Memory'. In Science, we have learnt about geocentric and heliocentric. We have started to read a new book called 'The Eye of the Wolf'. By Jan & Lizzy

Class Tamar - On Wednesday, some of us went to Sheviock to help plant trees with the Family Foraging Kitchen. We have been writing branch stories in computing based on either a fairy-tale or weather. We played hockey in PE practising dribbling, tackling and passing. By Taylor & William

Class Cremyll - We looked at various objects inside a treasure chest and used these objects to inspire us to create story maps and are now writing our stories. We had to come up with our own fundraising ideas about how we would raise money for charity. We also did rain dances, in PE. By Jack & Isla Pearl

Class Plym - This week we have found a dinosaur egg on our playground and created a nest for it. We planned and wrote out some super stories. We also became maths investigators and worked out different ways to answer subtraction questions. By William & Joey

School Council - Fill a Jar

Well done to the school council for organising this brilliant fundraising event and thank you all for supporting it. The total raised was an impressive £235 which has been donated to the Plymouth & Cornwall Cancer Fund.

Thank you...

A huge thank you to Robbie Ryder and the Family Foraging Kitchen for providing us with the opportunity to help plant an edible copse at Sheviock this week.
