

Explorers @ St Georges

The children are enjoying our owl topic with the 'Owl Babies' story proving to be a firm favourite. It's lovely to hear the children joining in with the repeating text and talking about the characters in the story.

Next steps

Over the next few days we will be continuing our owl theme. The children will be using information books to discover owl facts. We will find out what the different parts of an owl are called, discover what they like to eat and learn that a baby owl is called an 'owlet'. We'll listen to owl calls; try turning our heads like owls and use binoculars to investigate how owls can see so well with their big eyes. There'll be lots of owl craft activities and role play in our Wildlife Vets. Our focus story will be 'Goodnight Owl' by Pat Hutchins.

A crafty idea for home

Try using cup-cake cases to create a lovely owl picture with your child.

Fold the cases in half to make the owl's feathery body and wings. Use two round cases to make lovely big eyes, add a triangle beak and admire your fantastic owl picture - it really is that easy!

We'd love to see any owls that you create together, why not bring your pictures to Nursery to show everyone.

Forest and Wilderness

Happy faces, rosy cheeks and lots of mud! We had a fantastic outdoor session on Thursday, making muddy puddles, creating wonderful mud kitchen recipes and moulding mud into different shapes with our hands. A big thank-you to all of you for your good humour as you received the bag of washing!

Our next outdoor session is planned for the morning of Wednesday 27th November.
