

Four top tips for saving energy

Avoid paying more than you should for energy while your school is closed or reduced to a skeleton staff.

Manage your boilers

Protect the life of your boiler and avoid unnecessary heating:

- Switch your boiler to holiday mode.
- Turn off boilers in staff rooms/kitchens and only fill the kettle with the water needed.

Take meter readings

Regular meter readings will help to prevent overestimated invoices while your consumption is lower.

Power down electrical items

Turn off all unnecessary electrical items, including:

- IT equipment (monitors, printers, white boards)
- Water coolers and vending machines
- Heating systems and air conditioning

Terminate supply agreements as needed in a timely manner

We do this on behalf of our customers. But, if you are managing your contracts yourself, avoid rolling over into inflated out of contract rates by giving timely notice.

Our staff remain on hand during normal working hours to provide a friendly ear. Contact us for help and guidance.
