Welcome to the first newsletter for the Spring term. I hope you have all had a fun and family filled holiday. It was nice to welcome the children back on Tuesday. They all seem to have grown, it must be those brussels sprouts at Christmas! We have started the new term with a bang! Year 1 and 2 were introduced to their new topic 'Heroes' with an obstacle course from the Library into the hall. They all qualified and will be designing their hero costumes next week. Reception have settled back into the new school term without any hiccups and have produced some wonderful work. The progress from last term has been amazing!

As part of our 'Heroes' topic, we would love to invite people who work for the emergency services. We are also keen to invite scientists as part of our ongoing work in Science and for the upcoming Science Week in March. Please talk to Miss Tolmie or Miss Beeks if you are able to come into school to talk about your job. While I am on the topic, we are also still keen for parent helpers to read with our children.

From Monday we will start a playtime activity timetable. Three days a week a selection of bikes and scooters will be out on the front playground. There will also be a daily range of activities available on the main playground and field.

These activities will be led by the year 2 children, supported by the staff on duty.

On Wednesday we will be hosting our annual Parent Information Evening from 7 till 8. We hope to see many of you at what promises to be an interesting and informative session. To help us with the preparations, please reply to the email sent earlier today asap.

I hope you have a wonderful weekend!
