Monday

In English today we were thinking about the word, imagination!

Here is a lovely video about a girl called Melody who listens to a piece of music about animals. The music helps Melody to create – ‘dream up’ – her own wonderful story, just by using her imagination!

It is great because the story is enjoyable and the music is relaxing!

Tuesday

Our book for English this week is The Bookworm. It is all about a boy who has a pet worm.

Did you know that worms are really strong? They are about 1,000 times stronger than people (relatively speaking, of course!).

As it is important that we keep ourselves fit strong and healthy, shall we have an action song?

It is called, ‘There’s a worm at the bottom of the garden’.

Are you ready? Let’s go!

Wednesday

In The Bookworm, the little boy, Max, wanted a pet. He started with a worm and it turned into a ...

All pets need looking after. I can't show you what it would be like to have a dragon as a pet but I can show you what it might be like to have a pet dinosaur!

Here is what it is like for Chloe, getting breakfast for her troublesome pet triceratops, Topsy!

Thursday

As you know, today is World Book Day!

Why not celebrate World Book Day with a book related art and craft idea from CBeebies?

How about making a ‘Book Buddy’?

Friday

Well, it has been another busy and exciting week! Time to relax a bit now.

Why don't you choose what you want to do today?

You might want to read one of your favourite books again.

Maybe, use your brilliant imagination and draw your own special pet?

Or you could just ‘chat and play’ until it is bedtime and then enjoy a calming story, all about dragons!
