

English Planning

Monday

This week's story is 'The Rainbow Fish' by Marcus Pfister.

As usual, let's look at the cover of the book first and see what this might tell us about the story.

What can you see?

A fish. What does it look like?

Where do you think it is swimming? In the sea or in a fish tank?

How do you think the story will start?

Well, let's find out. Are you ready? Then I will begin the story. [See video upload for the reading of the story]

Tuesday

Did you enjoy The Rainbow Fish?

Which parts of the story made you feel happy?

☺ Can you say why?

Which parts of the story made you feel sad or unhappy? ☹ Again, can you say why?

These pictures show parts of the story that made me 'feel' happy and unhappy. Can you match the pictures to the correct feeling – happy or unhappy?

Wednesday

Do you remember Percy the Park Keeper from the story, One Snowy Night?

Was Percy the Park Keeper always kind? Was he good at sharing all the way through the story?

Did he share his lunch?

Yes, he shared his lunch didn't he? You can tell he was happy to share his lunch from the big smile on his face in the picture!

When the animals wanted somewhere warm to sleep on that cold, snowy night, did Percy tell them stay with him or did he tell them to 'go away!'?

You are right! He was kind and shared his warm hut and all the animals found a cosy bed to sleep in!

Tomorrow, we will think about The Rainbow Fish and whether he was kind and good at sharing! What do you think?

Thursday

Yesterday, we decided that Percy the Park Keeper was kind, friendly and good at sharing.

Do you think The Rainbow Fish is kind, friendly and good at sharing too?

What did he say when the little blue fish asked him to come and play?

Well, he didn't say anything and just swam away. Was that a friendly thing to do?

What happened when the little blue fish asked The Rainbow Fish for one of his shiny scales?

Do you think The Rainbow Fish was being kind and friendly at these moments in the story?

Friday

Well, yesterday I think we thought The Rainbow Fish wasn't very friendly! Is he unfriendly all the way through the story or does he change and become kinder?

To help us remember, let's watch this super animation of The Rainbow Fish that really does bring the story and characters to life!

What do you think? Does The Rainbow Fish become kinder? Does the story have a happy ending?

Yes, of course it does! In fact, I think it is the perfect way to finish this half term!

Next week is a holiday week and I think you all deserve a good rest because you have worked really hard this half term. Look at all the stories you have read and thought about in our English lessons!

Wow! You should all be very proud of yourselves! Have a great week off!
