

Match the beginnings and endings of these sentences and join them together with the conjunction and. Use the story to help you. Can you read out all the correct sentences? Or you could draw a line to match them up, and then rewrite the correct sentences. One has been done for you.

Take these big, yellow onions to your mother

Take this delicious, warm bread to your mother

Take these ripe, bitter tomatoes to your mother

Take these fresh eggplants to your mother

Take these tasty, fine fish to your mother

thank her for my smart, blue shirt.

thank her for the pretty, yellow wrap.

thank her for my splendid purple dress.

thank her for my handsome, green kaftan.

thank her for my beautiful, pink shirt.

and

