

Collective Worship Feedback Autumn 2017

You said ...	So we ...
Teachers play the emotional music to make the parents cry.	Apologise if we have made you cry! We do try and use music which encourages reflection and stillness but we will endeavour to keep things as upbeat as possible.
The Buddy introductions could have been evened out – some were great enthusiastic introductions and some were very short.	Agree. This section is written by the individual children but in future we will provide more of a framework for the writing to even things up a bit.
It would have been lovely if Year 3 could have attended and seen their brother and sister take part.	Can completely see your point. The school diary does become very busy very quickly and we do often have a number of events on the same day but we will definitely try to take class assemblies and whole school attendance into account in the future.
