

Learning both in school and at home this week has continued to explore the theme of weather. The children have been carrying out lots of different experiments, with a particular favourite being how to create your own tornado. We have been super impressed with some of the videos that have been sent in too. See our Facebook page for how to make your own tornado and if you haven't tried it yet, give it a whirl!

Others have been learning all about weather forecasting and have had a go at making their own weather forecast. Did you know pine cones can help you predict what the weather is going to be like.

Lovely Learning

Birch class have had Harry Potter themed yoga sessions and Ash class have been creating their own music using ocarinas. Willow enjoyed the day doing Forest school activities out on the field. Well done to everyone who has been working hard both in school and at home.

Hopefully everyone has had a chance to read the letters that were sent out on eschools at the beginning of the week regarding arrangements for the last two weeks in school for Years 2-5. Thank you to everyone who has replied so far and if you haven't please can you send in your reply by Wednesday to help us make plans for these weeks. If you would like to speak with us about this please don't hesitate to contact us .
