Dear Parents

Grand Climate Change Challenge Thursday 13th June 2019 at Exeter University

We have been invited to participate in a Grand Climate Change Challenge in connection with the Met Office and the University. On Tuesday 11th June in the morning, students from the University will talk to the children about climate change; focussing on areas such as climate change facts, myth busting and climate change impacts. Then on Thursday 13th June, the children have been invited to the University, where they will participate in a range of games and activities, all centred on climate change. This visit will take place during the school day and there is no charge; all the children need to provide is a drink and packed lunch.

This is not only a great opportunity for the children to learn about climate change, but also to learn from and listen to students and experts in their field, whilst visiting the University itself. As well as giving your consent for the children to participate, we also need you to complete the additional consent form about filming and photographs, from the University please.

If you are available to come along on Thursday 13th June, we would be grateful for your support, so please do let us know.

Yours sincerely

Mrs Vernon
