Newsletter

On Tuesday of this week, BB choir went to bring festive cheer to the residents of Trevarna care home by singing Christmas carols to them. Some residents were so touched by the wonderful singing that they were in tears! Well done to BB choir for your impeccable behaviour and your wonderful singing. You did BB proud!

All the staff at BB wish you a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year.

Santa visits BB!!

Brit in Space! We are all pleased to see that Major Tim Peake has become the first British person to visit the International Space Station. We celebrated this momentous occasion in school with a special assembly. Some of the children have even made models of the Soyuz rocket. Over the next week the ISS is going to be easily visible (as long as it's not too cloudy) from Cornwall. From earth the ISS looks like a fast moving, very bright star.

Lunch menu for 4th January

Please note the choices have changed for our first day back. The options are:

- Sausages (Pork or vegetarian) and chipped Potatoes.
- Baked beans, peas or sweetcorn.
- Berry Chill

Mr Lees is becoming a bit of a celebrity!! A BBC TV crew, from 'Inside Out' visited the school last Friday to interview Mr Lees on the hot topic of authorised absences and holidays. The reporter, Simon Read had this to say about our school: "Many thanks for your help on Friday. I thought the interview was excellent - many good points and all well-made. Please pass on my gratitude to all the staff and pupils who helped us. It's obviously a great school, and it was a pleasure to meet you all." The programme airs on 11th January 2016 if you want to hear his and others' opinions on the matter. Mr Lees will also undertake the consultation on the June INSET week across all 5 MAT schools during the same week in January.
