Newsletter No 25

Our theme this half term is PEACE

This week we have celebrated Extreme English through a wide range of learning activities. Thank you for all the effort that you went to with outfits at home to help the children get the most out of their day. The children all looked fantastic in their book themed outfits and we had a great time working out which stories were being represented and why they are a personal favourite. The Book Fair gave the children extra motivation to read widely and we raised a fantastic £560 enabling school to choose £280 worth of free books! This was an excellent effort – thank you for your support with this. Thank you to the PTA for the wonderful Reading and Writing prizes – a real treat! The photos sent in for Extreme Writing were so creative – thank you to those who took part in the competition- some adventurous writing has been taking place!

Mrs Seagrave's Good Manners Award

Congratulations to Emilee B in Y6 who won my Good Manners Award last week. Emilee has been consistently delightful in her respectful attitude to all members of our school family, throughout her time at Lea Endowed. Keep shining Emilee - we are very proud of you!

Life Bus

This week all the children enjoyed their visit to the Life Bus where they were encouraged to think about all aspects of health and make positive decisions about themselves. This supported our ongoing PSHE curriculum (Personal, Social, Health and Economic), which we teach all year round and is embedded into many other subjects. The comments from the Life Bus staff are truly worth celebrating. After the first day the teacher wrote in her evaluation of our school, "What a fabulous school-wonderful, interested, polite, well-behaved children and friendly, welcoming staff." Following the completion of the visit, the second leader wrote, "The attitude, and warmth of staff and children was great to be a part of. Thank you so much for all being amazing and unique." As you can imagine, once again, I was very proud of our school family!
