

THE POEM OF OUTSIDE

Blue is the colour of the ocean, floating in the clouds, birds around me.

Purple is the colour of a flower near Royal Pavillien,
trying to create my own gaming room.

White is the colour of snow at The Level with Angela holding hands together down the slide.

Flying off.
Becoming a giant ball of snow.

Blue is the colour of bubble ice-cream that turns your tongue blue.

I hope they're interested
I hope it inspires them to be artists
We can put a force field round the earth
I hope it will make them come back again
On a good day, when I go to the pier, I feel happy
They make me feel amazed
And annoyed because I can't play video games.
