

The Memorial Gardens

The Secret Gardens in the heart of Newmarket

This April sees the completion of the redevelopment of our Memorial Gardens in Newmarket. Work began last summer after consultation with local schools. The designer took away all the children's great ideas and came up with a fabulous scheme, and once planning permission had been granted we started work in Autumn 2018. We took the difficult decision to close the gardens for the duration of the project, but this has allowed us to complete the construction over the winter and now we are ready to reopen the gardens on 5th April 2019

The Memorial Gardens still include a dedicated toddler area, but now have an updated water play space, a zipwire, a new bespoke sensory wall and the centrepiece - a stunning castle full of slides and climbing nets! You asked us to keep space for running and ball games which we have done and we have been working hard to ensure the gardens are fully inclusive enabling access and play opportunities for all abilities.
