LOVING LEARNING

Dear Parents and Carers,
Having tried our very hardest to beat the Beast from the East we sadly had to admit defeat and make the very difficult decision to postpone Learning Reviews and close school last Friday. I am very grateful for everyone's understanding. Thankfully the weather is now taking a turn for the better and Spring seems to be on its way to Telford Infants!

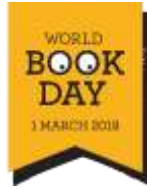

It was lovely to see so many parents and carers at Learning Reviews last week and also at the rescheduled Reviews yesterday. If you have not attended a Review, please contact your child's class teacher to arrange a convenient time to meet for a 10 minute appointment regarding your child's progress in school.

Next week is Science Week and we are looking forward to a fun packed week of Science Investigations centered around the theme of 'Blue Planet'. Please remember that parents and carers are warmly invited to join us at 2.45pm-3.15pm next week to share our learning.

Reception are on their Learning Visit to the Sealife Centre today – I look forward to hearing about their adventures on their return!

WORLD BOOK DAY

What a lovely time we had on World Book Day!

Mrs Green led a special assembly and each class was given a new book for their class to enjoy for story time. We loved dressing up as book characters and were so proud sharing the books we brought in with our friends. Kerry Booth came in and led some Little Listeners story sessions which were a great success. A highlight of everyone's day was our 'muddled up storytime' when we all went off to different parts of the school to hear lots of exciting stories. World Book Day might only last for one day but at Telford Infants we love reading every single day of the year!

READING AT HOME

We strongly encourage you to take a few minutes, several times a week to hear your child read their school book. Setting aside the time to read a few pages of a book has a hugely positive impact on your child's reading skills. Please remember to write a short comment or just to initial and date your child's Reading Diary whenever you hear them read.

Don't forget to also enjoy finding a quiet and cosy space to read lots and lots of different books to your child – there are so many out there to enjoy! Is your child a member of your local library?

Sit back and relax all you need is a book!"
