We salute you!

This week, I want to pay a tribute to the fantastic staff who have absolutely worked their socks off to support the school community over the last few months. They really are our very own heroes.

Last week across the country 15.6% of children attended their school. At Andoversford, we have 83% of children in school full-time. The challenge to achieve this should not be underestimated.

As we look ahead and plan the next phase for September, I hope you will all join me in thanking them for their hard work and dedication.
