

Would you call India home?

This term Orange Class will be exploring India. For our project launch, we will have an Indian day where the children will get to observe and question aspects of Indian life. They will discover where India is and take part in art and cooking opportunities. Our project will consist of three mini projects, leading onto our final end project.

The first mini project will focus on what makes India special? We will look at the key characteristics of India as a place and what makes it unique.

For mini project two we will celebrate the colours of India. We will recreate India's vibrancy through a focus on food and fabrics.

For mini project three we will be looking at Cornwall and what is so special about where we live. We will celebrate St. Piran's Day and take a trip to St Michaels Mount. Comparisons will be made between where we live and what we have learnt about life in India.

Our end project will see the children considering everything they have learnt about the differences between India and Cornwall and a joint exhibition with yellow class of their work at the Coach House at Penlee Gallery.

Would you call India home?