The year one class going into year two will be split in equal numbers between Poppy Class and Daisy Class. The older children will form a class with the year group above and the younger children will form a class with the year group below. The year two curriculum will be taught to all children in year two in both classes. Our enquiry learning is organised to ensure equal access to the children across the two classes.

Parents will be informed of the classes in T5.

The class split from year two will remain the same for the future split in year five to ensure curriculum coverage. The year five curriculum will be taught to all children in year five in both classes. Our enquiry learning is organised to ensure equal access to the children across the two classes.

Children new to school will be placed where a space exists.

Where there are exceptional circumstances (eg safeguarding issues, children from multiple births, access issues) the Head Teacher will work with parents to ensure the policy is adhered to where possible.
