

COMMUNITY ENGAGEMENT VOLUNTEER (WESTERN REGION)

ROLE PROFILE

Overview:

This new role will directly improve the fundraising capability and public awareness of RNRMC across the Western Region by identifying new opportunities and supporting existing ones within local communities. We are a small team covering large areas of the country so this role is vital to our income generation plan to support our sailors, marines and their families, for life.

If you've got experience of fundraising, working in the local community, running/manning events or have a connection to the Royal Navy (past or present!) we'd love to hear from you.

Location: Various locations across the Western Region – specifics to be agreed.

The Western Region stretches west from Bournemouth down to the tip of Cornwall, up through Devon and Somerset, Wales and up as far as Liverpool cutting back to Bournemouth through central counties.

What a Community Engagement Volunteer does:

- Champions RNRMC in their local community
- Identifies new fundraising opportunities e.g. challenge events, supermarkets, business links
- Supports the Regional Fundraising events calendar with participation and promotion
- Represents the charity at appropriate occasions
- Setting up event displays, cash handling

Personal qualities and skills suited to this role:

- Comfortable with talking to different audiences (general public/business owners etc)
- Outgoing and adaptable
- Friendly and hands-on approach
- Sense of humour and team ethos
- Dependable – there may be outside events in inclement weather
- Trustworthy – you will be representing the charity and handling cash
- Connection or passion for the Royal Navy
- Valid driving licence

How much time is involved?

This is very much led by the individual and the level of commitment you are able to make. Depending on your location there may be more opportunities to get involved.

Expenses:

Travel and catering expenses will be provided in line with our relevant policies made available through our Volunteer Handbook at registration

Responsible to: Tim Corke - Regional Fundraiser (Western Region)
