

Hello Everyone,

Well it's been a great week for watching nature again. We have come across some interesting things whilst taking our daily exercise.

Here are a couple of photos that have been sent in this week. Ida found some broken Blackbird eggs, I wonder what has happened to them? The other is from Luke P and is the answer last week's cryptic quiz.

The answers to the questions are:

The flower is a Foxglove, the bug is a Shield Beetle and the photo from Seth was a close up of a Slug.

The Cryptic Quiz was a Grey Squirrel, as eaten by the Romans! Grey Squirrels are bigger than our native Red Squirrel and have pushed them out of most of England.

They can be seen in the Channel Islands, on Brownsea Island in Poole harbour and in the north of the UK. Red Squirrels are a glorious orange red colour and are just as cheeky as their Grey cousins.

Here are a two photos to investigate.

Who lives in a house like this?

Let's shake a tail feather?

Below is a bird watching chart sent in by Hannah. Tick a box each time you see the birds this week.

Key Stage 2

It looks like I have saw teeth.

I love being around rabbit warrens.

You can cook me making tea, soups and stew and all sorts of other things. You can make string with me. You can use me for lots and lots of different things.

Native Americans used me to help them run very long distances.

You need to be careful around me but don't be scared around me!

I have more vitamin C than oranges.

Key Stage 1

I come out at night and I like lights.

I look like I shouldn't be able to fly.

When I fly near you I sound like a squadron of Lancaster bombers flying over.

I am called by the month of the year I appear.

I am around now.

Please email me at:

asidebottom@laughton.e-sussex.sch.uk

Thank you to everyone who have sent in answers and photos.

Keep up the good work and enjoy.

Have a great week.

Take care

Mr Sidebottom