Together We Grow in Wisdom and Serve with Joy

Dear parents/carers,

Due to the current situation with Covid-19 and the Prime Minister's decision to retain the current restrictions, we have received clarification from the Department for Education, that all current risk assessment measures must remain in place at this point. Sadly, this means that visitors to the school must remain at a minimum and for essential purposes only. We know how frustrating this is in light of the other national decisions at present - football crowds and G7. However, we have seen the significant impact this has had on the number of Covid cases in these areas. Locally, schools have begun to have to close bubbles and even whole schools again due to confirmed cases. We have, as a school community, worked extremely hard to maintain the safety of our children, families and staff. At this point, we do not want to risk that. Whilst it is disappointing for families not to visit or spectate at events, the most important thing is that the children can have these events (Trips, sports day, etc) take place and have a lovely, safe end to term so that our school community can have a healthy, happy summer break.

Thank you for your continued support and understanding.

Miss Davy

School Improvement:

Pupils have now completed their assessments for this academic year. The purpose of these is to inform teachers' future planning and ensure that if there are any gaps in learning, then these can be addressed. Teachers have used these assessments as well as their own judgements and knowledge of the pupils to write their yearly reports and to forward to the next teacher as necessary.

Since the introduction of the 2014 curriculum, we no longer share assessment scores with parents/carers, as these aren't very useful. Teachers plot the correct/incorrect answers and analyse gaps for every pupil in their class. This does take some time but provides a much more informative picture of the individual needs of every pupil in the class. These are shared with subject leaders and I as another monitoring tool. These are then used in conjunction with teacher judgements gained through their knowledge of the day-to-day learning in the class. Some learning cannot be demonstrated through an assessment. Next week, our Academy Improvement Officer will carry out moderation of end of key stage judgements. If you have any questions regarding assessment, please feel free to speak to me.

School attendance and absence

Going to school regularly is important for your child's future. Parents are responsible for making sure their children receive full-time education. Parents are legally responsible for making sure that children attend school. If your child doesn't go to school, you could get fined or prosecuted.

Benefits of school attendance

Good attendance at school is not just beneficial, it's essential. Attending school is directly linked to improved exam performance which should in turn lead to further learning opportunities and better job prospects. As well as this, going to school helps to develop:

- Friendships
- Social skills
- Team values
- Life skills
- Cultural awareness
- Career pathways

Absence from school

- All schools must record details of pupils' attendance and absence at school. They do this at the beginning of morning and afternoon sessions meaning that each day your child receives two half day marks.
- If your child is going to be absent from school, (e.g. for an unavoidable appointment) then you should let the school know as soon as possible. If your child has been absent due to an unexpected event such as bereavement or illness then you must also let the school know on the first day of absence in accordance with the school's attendance policy.
- The school will then record the absence. If you fail to notify the school as to why your child has not been present then the school may record that period of absence as being unauthorised.
- The Education Welfare Service (EWS) has access to all attendance information for each pupil and if your child is missing school without good reason, schools and the EA have the authority to find out why.

Attendance in figures

- Schools will advise parents of a child's attendance levels at least once a year. This will usually include a percentage attendance figure.
- Achieving 90 per cent in an exam or test is a fantastic result but if your child is at school for only 90 per cent of the school year then they will have missed 19 days - almost four whole weeks of school.
- For primary-age children, this can mean almost 120 guided learning hours. This is a big gap for any child to make up.
- If your child is a pupil at post-primary school, 120 guided learning hours is the equivalent of studying one full-time GCSE (normally taken over two years).

How to prevent your child from missing school

You can help prevent your child missing school by:

- having a routine from an early age and sticking to it
- making sure your child understands the importance of good attendance and punctuality
- making sure they understand the possible implications for themselves and you as a parent if they don't attend
- taking an interest in their education - ask about school work and encourage them to get involved in school activities
- discussing any problems they may have at school and letting their teacher or Head Teacher know about anything that is causing concern
- not letting them take time off school for minor ailments or holidays during term time

To avoid disrupting your child's education, you should arrange (as far as possible), appointments and outings:

- after school hours
- at weekends
- during school holidays

Term time holidays

- Term time holidays have been increasing over the last number of years. Parents should make every effort to ensure that their child does not miss school due to holiday plans. Schools are not obliged to agree to you taking your child on holiday during term time. They are entitled to record such holidays as being an unauthorised absence

Support for parents

- As a parent, if you find it hard to talk to your child about their attendance at school or other school-related matters, support is available.

Support from your child's school

- Your child's school should have an attendance policy in place and made available to you, normally from the school website. As a parent or guardian, you should ensure that you adhere to the guidance provided in that policy regarding attendance and notifying absence.

- Your child's school is the first place to discuss any attendance problems. The school should try to agree a plan with you to improve your child's attendance.

- A school can refer your child to the Education Welfare Service (EWS) if they feel there is reason to be concerned at their level of attendance. The EWS is a specialist education support service which helps young people of a compulsory school age and their families to get the best out of the education system.

The EWS can offer advice and support to help you and your child to have good attendance at school

Support from the Education Authority

The Education Authority (EA) can also help if you are struggling to make sure that your child goes to school

Support from other organisations

As well as school and the EA, you may also be able to get advice and assistance from other organisations. These may include your local community centre or local community group. ParentingNI provide a wide range of helpful advice and resources as well as a parent's helpline.

Parent Teacher Associations can also provide further information and resources through their website at ParentKind

School Dinners – Please can all Dinners be paid in advance of at least a week via School Money * Sickness and diarrhoea - If your child experiences an upset stomach, they should be kept off school for a minimum of 48hrs, in order to minimise the spread the illnesses * Morning drop-off - Children should be at school in time for the bell at 9am. If your child is ill, or will be in late, please could you make sure that you contact school (01566 783 273) so we can inform class teachers. If your child is not in school by 9.30am, and we have not received a message, they could be registered as late, and this will affect their attendance * Wet Weather Coats - please ask that all children come to school with appropriate outdoor clothing – water proof coats for all children please, and wellies for Yes Tor. * Comments for Governors - If you have any comments or suggestions for the school Governors these can be placed in the red box outside of the office
