Together We Grow in Wisdom and Serve with Joy

Dear parents/carers,

Another fantastic week of learning across the school. Having spoken to the pupils in Oke Tor this week, we have decided that we would like to have a focus learning disposition of the week. Next week we will be looking for pupils who are showing resilience in their learning. Please look out for the stickers that we introduced prior to Covid, if your child comes home with one, please talk to them about why they have been given it.

Three of our pupils have demonstrated courageous advocacy by deciding to organise a school litter pick as they are not impressed with the amount of rubbish that gets blown onto the school grounds. Please see Dojo for more details as their project develops.

Lola has settled in well and has become a real part of the school family, the pupils have been amazing with her, demonstrating our school values of kindness, responsibility and respect in the way that they interact with and look after her. It is lovely to see.

School Improvement:

We are very proud and excited to be part of the Devon Right to Read project which provides schools with the training and support to implement reading improvement approaches linked to research. So far, Miss Davy has attended (virtually) the introduction day which was so inspiring. We have formed an implementation team of staff, consisting of Bex, Justine, Lynda, Mrs Sutherland and Miss Davy, who are all extremely excited about this journey for our school. Miss Davy has also attended a virtual meeting with the Diocese to explore “Sharing a story” which will involve the school, the church and home promoting the love of reading and books, more details to follow as we get them.

One of the areas that we would like to ask for your feedback, is the role of the Reading Record book. These are the yellow recording books that start off in the Reception class that get sent home with your child’s reading book. Before we introduced RWI and whole class guided reading, staff also wrote in these record books but our new approaches mean that every child is heard read everyday whilst they are on the RWI programme and whole class guided reading allows those who have moved off the scheme to be heard as part of that lesson. Those pupils who are highlighted as needing additional reading opportunities, have records that are kept in school (this ensures that they’re always here for when we need them). We will create a Survey Monkey questionnaire and share via Dojo next week. We would be very grateful if you could complete this please.

Transition planning

We are really hoping that we will receive updated government guidance soon so that we can start to plan some transition opportunities for the second half of term. We are also exploring how we can invite parents in to meet the teachers (likely to be held outside). More details as soon as we confirm them. We will also confirm September classes and staff arrangements after half term.

Attendance:

Great Links Tor	100%
Fox Tor	94%
Brentor	96%
Oke Tor	96%
Whole School	97%

National expectations are 97%

Please call the school office if your child is ill or late. We cannot rely on receiving Dojo messages, as the internet isn't great. Thank you.

School attendance and absence

Going to school regularly is important for your child's future. Parents are responsible for making sure their children receive full-time education. Parents are legally responsible for making sure that children attend school. If your child doesn't go to school, you could get fined or prosecuted.

Benefits of school attendance

Good attendance at school is not just beneficial, it's essential. Attending school is directly linked to improved exam performance which should in turn lead to further learning opportunities and better job prospects. As well as this, going to school helps to develop:

- Friendships
- Social skills
- Team values
- Life skills
- Cultural awareness
- Career pathways

Absence from school

- All schools must record details of pupils' attendance and absence at school. They do this at the beginning of morning and afternoon sessions meaning that each day your child receives two half day marks.
- If your child is going to be absent from school, (e.g. for an unavoidable appointment) then you should let the school know as soon as possible. If your child has been absent due to an unexpected event such as bereavement or illness then you must also let the school know on the first day of absence in accordance with the school's attendance policy.
- The school will then record the absence. If you fail to notify the school as to why your child has not been present then the school may record that period of absence as being unauthorised.

- The Education Welfare Service (EWS) has access to all attendance information for each pupil and if your child is missing school without good reason, schools and the EA have the authority to find out why.

Attendance in figures

- Schools will advise parents of a child's attendance levels at least once a year. This will usually include a percentage attendance figure.
- Achieving 90 per cent in an exam or test is a fantastic result but if your child is at school for only 90 per cent of the school year then they will have missed 19 days - almost four whole weeks of school.
- For primary-age children, this can mean almost 120 guided learning hours. This is a big gap for any child to make up.
- If your child is a pupil at post-primary school, 120 guided learning hours is the equivalent of studying one full-time GCSE (normally taken over two years).

How to prevent your child from missing school

You can help prevent your child missing school by:

- having a routine from an early age and sticking it to it
- making sure your child understands the importance of good attendance and punctuality
- making sure they understand the possible implications for themselves and you as a parent if they don't attend
- taking an interest in their education - ask about school work and encourage them to get involved in school activities
- discussing any problems they may have at school and letting their teacher or Head Teacher know about anything that is causing concern
- not letting them take time off school for minor ailments or holidays during term time

To avoid disrupting your child's education, you should arrange (as far as possible), appointments and outings:

- after school hours
- at weekends
- during school holidays

Term time holidays

- Term time holidays have been increasing over the last number of years. Parents should make every effort to ensure that their child does not miss school due to holiday plans. Schools are not obliged to agree to you taking your child on holiday during term time. They are entitled to record such holidays as being an unauthorised absence

Support for parents

- As a parent, if you find it hard to talk to your child about their attendance at school or other school-related matters, support is available.

Support from your child's school

- Your child's school should have an attendance policy in place and made available to you, normally from the school website. As a parent or guardian, you should ensure that you adhere to the guidance provided in that policy regarding attendance and notifying absence.
- Your child's school is the first place to discuss any attendance problems. The school should try to agree a plan with you to improve your child's attendance.

- A school can refer your child to the Education Welfare Service (EWS) if they feel there is reason to be concerned at their level of attendance. The EWS is a specialist education support service which helps young people of a compulsory school age and their families to get the best out of the education system.

The EWS can offer advice and support to help you and your child to have good attendance at school

Support from the Education Authority

The Education Authority (EA) can also help if you are struggling to make sure that your child goes to school

Support from other organisations

As well as school and the EA, you may also be able to get advice and assistance from other organisations. These may include your local community centre or local community group. ParentingNI provide a wide range of helpful advice and resources as well as a parent's helpline. Parent Teacher Associations can also provide further information and resources through their website at ParentKind

School Dinners – Please can all Dinners be paid in advance of at least a week via School Money * Sickness and diarrhoea - If your child experiences an upset stomach, they should be kept off school for a minimum of 48hrs, in order to minimise the spread the illnesses * Morning drop-off - Children should be at school in time for the bell at 9am. If your child is ill, or will be in late, please could you make sure that you contact school (01566 783 273) so we can inform class teachers. If your child is not in school by 9.30am, and we have not received a message, they could be registered as late, and this will affect their attendance * Wet Weather Coats - please ask that all children come to school with appropriate outdoor clothing – water proof coats for all children please, and wellies for Yes Tor. * Comments for Governors - If you have any comments or suggestions for the school Governors these can be placed in the red box outside of the office
