

Describing animals

We can use adjectives and adverbs in non-fiction texts, so long as they accurately describe the things we are talking about. Look at the animals in the document and think about words and phrases you could use to describe their appearance in a factsheet. The first one has been done for you as an example.

Rusty orange fur.
Black, leathery faces.
Long fingers and toes for gripping.
Bright, deep-set eyes.
Clinging to branches and swinging between the trees.
Long, strong arms.

Orangutan

Toucan

Red-eyed tree frog
