

As soon as the string was tied around Theseus, he wandered into the haunted, spooky Labyrinth.

When he entered he could hear the snapping of bones (the victims of the Minotaur) then he could smell the foul smell of the Minotaur. Theseus swiftly hid in a dark, gloomy corner when the Minotaur came stomping passed.

After the Minotaur went passed, Theseus slid from the corner further into the labyrinth. Suddenly, the stomping stopped! Theseus looked back and saw a Minotaur come charging after him with an almighty Roar. Theseus sprinted away but the Minotaur came charging at him. Theseus tripped over stabbing the Minotaur in the thick, hairy arm the Minotaur roared and chased Theseus further into the labyrinth.

When the Minotaur came charging after him, Theseus jumped out of the way and the Minotaur went SMACK into a wall with his horns got stuck into the wall. Theseus brutally stabbed the Minotaur into his horns and ripping it off! The Minotaur roared and dug his cruel, menacing claws into Theseus's eye and ripping it out! Thick, oozing blood came pouring out of his eye socket!

Almost unable to see, Theseus screamed in pain. Then Theseus chopped the Minotaur's ear off and said "How do you like that you big, fat armpit." in a deep blood-curdling voice. Suddenly the Minotaur stabbed Theseus in the knee cap and then Theseus with an almighty CHOP chopped the head of the Minotaur with blood trickling down on Theseus's body.

The Minotaur was dead...