RED, AMBER, GREEN

Don't forget to keep an eye out for your child's attendance post-card for this half term (October—December). The postcards are colour coded in the following way:

97% or above—Green 94% - 96.9% - Amber 93.9% or below—Red

If your child has an attendance percentage of less than 90% and we have not discussed the reasons why, then you will receive a letter from me inviting you to an attendance contact meeting.

FOUNDATION STAGE

I have noticed that the attendance for our youngest children is actually the worst in the school. I understand that these children catch illnesses easier than some of our older children, but next half term I will be implementing some new actions to help improve the attendance of all of our foundation stage children.

The 100 club

Wow! We are so impressed that 34 of our children have 100% attendance for this half term. These children will be receiving a postcard from me and will be mentioned in our end-of-term assembly. Please turn over to see who these incredibly dedicated children and families are.

Exclusion Table

The government have recently published information explaining how long children should be absent from schools with various infections. We have added this table to our website so please be aware that this guidance is what we will be encouraging parents and carers to follow.
