DAY 75
ANNIVERSARY

8th May 1945

VE Day is important because it celebrates the end of the war and no more bombs were dropped. My Grandma and Grandad were living in London on VE Day. They were evacuated from London during the war. Grandad said it was sunny on VE Day. Grandma had a street party and the children played games. Grandma put flags in her window and not to go back to school. Grandma was seven and is now eight + two and Grandad was fourteen and is now eighty nine.
