

Humanities at Pondhu School.

My name is Mrs Emma Jolliff and working in partnership with my link governor Aleah Truscott, we coordinate History and Geography at Pondhu Primary School. Each classroom at our school has a map of the world and a timeline to embed the children's knowledge and understanding of where places are in the world and the chronology of events. We are currently working towards the British Council International Schools award to credit our international learning and global understanding. Through this we are aiming to establish a link with a school in another country. We regularly develop and enhance the children's learning through educational visits to places such as the Eden Project, Royal Cornwall Museum and the National History Museum, and visits from Squashbox Theatre and members of the community.

Through their work in Geography at Pondhu School, children learn about their local area and compare their life in this area with that in other regions in the United Kingdom and in the rest of the world. In History endeavour to develop a coherent knowledge and understanding of Britain's past and that of the wider world. We aim to inspire pupils' curiosity to know more about the past.
