Dear Mother Earth

Thank you for the letter, we are trying so, so, so hard to stop people from using so much fossil fuel and to stop them from changing our world in dramatic ways but let's face it we are only children so we can't change 7.7 billion people's minds. However, we are the next generation so if we can make all the children of this world believe we can make a difference, then we can.

I understand that we are using all your resources and it must stop. People are starting to build electric cars but is that really helping you? They are using lithium to build the batteries if they keep mining it then there will not be any left. In addition the cars use lots of precious materials and are very expensive to buy.

Another problem is the amount of food we are wasting. Forests are being destroyed for palm oil and then we just throw it away; the coronavirus might help prevent wasting food. For example people can only go out to either go to work (if they are a key worker) or to go shopping and we should really only go shopping once every 2 weeks which means that we will not be able to go out as much so we shouldn't throw away as much food as we used to. Hopefully, this period will influence people so after the virus dies humans will still not throw away as much food as we used to.

Pollution is one of the main problems that is killing our home and wildlife and plastic is the murderer. Yes some of it is multi-use but if it escapes to the ocean whether it is multi use or not it will kill the beautiful, colorful sea life that humans enjoy watching darting around under the water. The pretoria of creatures that are in threat of the pollution problem is huge, to be processed 100 million. hopefully, we can change our mistakes.

Yours sincerely Mollie Sanderson
