Today you are going to write the middle of your adventure dream story!

Have a look at your plans from last week. Your middle will need lots of description. Can you answer these questions in your writing?

1. What will your character see?
2. What will your character hear?
3. What will your character feel?
4. What will your character do?

Example:

Penny quickly opened her eyes. She was suddenly woken by the sound of a loud BANG. The ground underneath her shook with each bang. She looked at the ground. It was dry mud. She was outside. “Tom where are we?.....Tom?” Penny looked all around her but couldn’t find her plastic toy T-Rex anywhere! Instead all she could see were tall trees with the greenest leaves she had ever seen! Some were as big as her whole body. She looked up to the top of the trees. Through the opening she could see blue skies and rays of warm sunshine coming down hitting her face.

Penny needed to find Tom so she started walking through the vast jungle. She didn’t get very far when she felt another BANG! Something had found her and was standing behind her. A huge shadow fell over her head and on to the floor in front of her. It blocked the sun making her feel cold. Penny felt terrified. She slowly turned around. Standing in front of her was a T-Rex as big as a skyscraper! “aaaaaaaaaaaaaaaaahhhh” she screamed. The massive dinosaur bent down to sniff her head. As he did Penny suddenly started to feel a lot safer. It was a very familiar face.

Can you write the middle of your story in your writing book?

Try to answer the questions and use as many adjectives as you can.

I will give you today and tomorrow to write your middle. Try to include as much detail as possible.

CHALLENGE: Can you use a simile?

If you finish in one day. On the second day I would like you to read back through your story so far.

- Can you highlight 3 sentences you can make better?

Are there any sentences that need:

1. More adjectives
2. Capital letters or full stops
3. Some speech
4. A conjunction to add more detail

- Then can you write those sentences out again on a separate page with the changes?
