Day
PSHE	If we were at school, I would have begun transition activities and discussions a long time ago. This year, the children may well be nervous about transferring to Year 2, or in fact about returning to school in general. The school staff are preparing for a completely unprecedented event, but please know that we are putting children right at the heart of our preparations. It is important that the children, and you, know that it is OK to feel nervous and unsure, it might not all go to plan, but we will take really good care of them and as long as we all keep talking to each other, we will share whatever comes, and be stronger, together. I am including a story of the Cautious Caterpillar that contains these issues and another which discusses them as well as a transition booklet to get the children to start thinking about next year. Videos from teachers and transition booklets are being produced for all year groups and you will have an opportunity to come and say goodbye to Mrs Johnson and myself before term ends, should you wish.
HISTORY	Knights carry a shield. To defend themselves, but also to show family pride. You should be proud of what you have achieved this year. You have learned a lot, not all of it academic. https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=osbMXZstL4o This video talks about how colours and symbols were used to represent an individual. There is a PowerPoint as well, which explains what some symbols mean, but you could make up your own. I want you to design a coat of arms to show what is important to you and who you are. Make it bright and colourful. Why not bring it in, when you meet Miss Blackwell, so she gets a chance to know who you are.
P.E.	We moved up, again! We were 226th last week, BEATING Wallands! One last go? See https://www.activesussex.org/virtual/ for details.

Again I underestimated how long these would take to complete. We need longer to finish them at school too!

If you feel really lost English Heritage have a video with instructions here. <https://youtu.be/HGH2bteGpTA> Don't forget to play with your castle.

This is your final task for the Foundation subjects this term. Enjoy.
