Dear School

Learn To Play The Rocksteady Way, the new book for parents, teachers and schools is going to be launching with a special offer on April 12th. For one day only, you will be able to download the Kindle edition for just 99p.

'This book far exceeded my expectations. It's full of thought provoking ideas that have widened my thinking on what Rocksteady does for me child.' Emma Beal, Jack's Mum.

'A good, easy read from an author who is obviously very passionate about teaching children music in a very motivating and forward thinking way. As I read through the true stories within the book I could feel that child growing in confidence and feeling very proud of achievements they thought were beyond them.' Paula Hanley, Parent.

'I wrote the book to help parents and schools get more out of their music lessons and further support their children outside of lessons. I hope the book does as much for you as the lesson do for the children.' Mark Robinson, Founder of Rocksteady Music School.
