

MARAZION SCHOOL READING KARATE!

Get ready to read like a master!

Just like the Japanese Martial Art, Reading Karate is about practising a skill and working your way up through a series of bands/belts. This will encourage and inspire your child to read regularly at home helping them to achieve all the different coloured wristbands. It's going to be great fun, boosting your child's self image as a reader and developing their reading skills and strategies.

What counts as a read:

- 4 pages and 3 follow up questions using a school reading book
- A whole book read to the child, the book must be one that the child could not read alone

- ❖ Parents and children will need to write their reads into their reading diary and it will be checked in school and counted up
- ❖ Only 1 read will be counted per day
- ❖ Parents MUST sign each read in the reading diary for it to count as a read

When your child has achieved 15 reads they will need to show their reading diary to the class teacher or TA. Your child's teacher will present them with a white wristband. When they have read a further 15 times they will need to show their reading diary to the class teacher or TA again, then the teacher will swap the white wristband for a yellow one. This will continue until your child achieves their black wristband and becomes a Reading Karate Master! Once your child has achieved their black wristband they will start the process again (black/white, black/yellow etc.) but they keep their black wristband. See overleaf for the meaning of the colours as explained by the World Martial Arts Centre.

At the end of the academic year your child will be able to keep any black wristband that they have achieved. There is no cost for this new reading incentive scheme, but we may ask for a small donation should bands get lost.

Reads count from Monday 2nd November 2015.

Happy Reading Karate Kids!
