

A PSHE Master

Mastery characteristics		This means
Mindset	Be mindful of the best way to attempt and resolve a situation with confidence. To apply strategies and learning taught to help others as well as themselves.	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Children will have exposure to a variety of possible scenarios and a selection of solutions to explore.
Be knowledgeable	Know and understand about future life and the skills required to be successful . To have a complete respect for others and their environment.	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Children will experience a range of cultures, team work, safety, diversity , financial and behavioural learning to ensure a broad understanding.
Communicate	To effectively use correct terminology and maturity when discussing topics. Children will be provided with a safe environment but will also create their own, making sensible choices.	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Children can not only share their own thoughts but listen and respect others. Children can build on knowledge of others and extend their own skills. To give and receive constructive feedback.
Be creative	Trial and error to find suitable strategies for situations. To listen and take advice from others to improve own learning. A range of resources and environments to aid development.	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Children will be able to apply their knowledge and understanding of different situations to solve a task in the way that they would like to. Children will be able to manage their own feelings and behaviour effectively.
Be skillful	Be able to adjust own actions and behaviour to suit the needs of others and their environment. To apply and share learnt knowledge to support others.	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Children will identify the most suitable way of communicating with others and solving a problem. Children can consistently approach situations with ease and confidence.
Be curious and connect ideas	Be confident to independently apply learning to own experiences in and out of school. Take pleasure from learning about others and have an inquisitive nature.	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Children will always be looking forward to the next learning, asking questions and doing own research. Children will happily offer own thoughts and role model for others.

How my subject areas contributes to the development of writing across the school:

- PSHE will allow the children to enter the wider world with confidence and the skills to be successful in whatever they do. Children will need to ensure that their communication is clear, informative and can be transferred into a confident writer with the emotional stability to absorb new concepts and fully apply themselves .
- PSHE will provide the children with a variety of situations and real life experiences to then use in their creative writing. It gives the children a purpose to their writing and an enthusiasm to share own knowledge.
- PSHE will allow children to learn the skills to be resilient, resourceful and valued as a writer.
- PSHE will allow the children to confidently join discussions and provide reasoning for their writing , this also allows children to confidently explain and expand on ideas.
- PSHE gives children the opportunity to be proud of themselves, to boost self esteem, to know they are valued, thus leading to an improved attitude towards writing, the effort they put in and their final product.