

Year 2 English Task – Thursday 9th July

Today you will be looking at subordinating conjunctions. You will be revising what they are and how to use them.

These sentences use subordinating conjunctions. Can you underline them?

You might see a snail if it has been raining.

You will know if a caterpillar has been eating your vegetables.

I look for bugs when I go walking in the forest

We can plant seeds when it is springtime.

I have a drink because I am thirsty.

Subordinating conjunctions can also be written at the beginning of a sentence. This can help change the sentence order. See the examples below. Do you notice anything?

If it has been raining, you might see a snail.

When it is springtime, we can plant seeds.

Write your own sentence using the conjunction 'because'.
