

Progression of Skills in History

Our Aims:

At Barrington, it is our aim to ensure the teaching of historical knowledge, concepts and skills are part of a broad and balanced curriculum, based on the skills of:

- Investigating and interpreting the past.
- Building an overview of world history.
- Understanding chronology
- Communicating historically.

In order to deepen their skills as historians, pupils will be shown a variety of artefacts and sources and asked about how they help us to interpret the past. They will be taught how to view evidence with a critical eye and to draw their own conclusions about historical events with an increasing level of independence as they move throughout their school career. Children are encouraged to identify connections, contrasts and trends over time: establishing clear narratives within and across the periods they study.

Children will learn about a wide range of historical periods and of significant people throughout British history and World history, including localised studies of areas around Barrington, Shepreth and Cambridge.

The vocabulary children use to discuss history will be built on each year so that by the time they leave Barrington Primary School they will have a secure and extensive knowledge to allow them to communicate effectively as historians.
