Dear Children & Staff,

Many people say that children know lots about other countries, cities, cultures, religions and languages but that they don't know enough about the capital city that they live in – the great city of London!

Here is your chance to prove them wrong and show them that Oliver Goldsmith is full of experts on our home town of London!

This year's Learning Adventure is therefore named "I Love London".

Your challenge starts today! You will have lots of time to learn as much as you can about our capital city before showing off your skills and knowledge to other children, to teachers, the governors, your parents and some other very important invited guests.

This year we want to inspire you to become leaders of learning! London has a proud history of being connected with many people who went on to become great leaders all over the world. We want you to become leaders of learning; leaders in your groups and leaders in your classrooms.

Your classroom will need to be transformed into an inviting and exciting learning zone; with each class trying to make theirs the very best in the school. You will plan some creative practical activities for your guest visitors that will teach them all about what you have learned about London!

This year, there is a special prize for the best learning zone as chosen by pupils, staff, visitors and parents.

The winning class will win a day out to London in the summer term to explore our home and capital city! Good luck with your challenge!

Yours sincerely,

Mr James Simmons
Headteacher
