

Your friend wants to play a different game to you. They have got very cross and have shouted at you because you cannot agree. What should you do?

In the playground someone has pushed you . You don't know if it's an accident or not but you are really hurt. What should you do?

You see another child from another class hurting a younger child on purpose. What should you do?

Your best friend is usually very kind to you, but they are stopping you from playing with other children. What should you do?