

Supplemental Material S3. Five aspects of user experience.

Note: Please evaluate the degree of user experience for your own student.

Student Name:

Aspect	Description	Score (5 – the highest degree, 1 – the lowest degree)
		1	2	3	4	5
enjoyment	The degree of apparent pleasure in the learning process (the more smiling, the higher degree)
cooperation	The degree of collaboration in learning a trial (whether the child could follow all the five steps within a trial)
consistency	The continuity of the overall coordination throughout the learning process (whether the cooperation persists across different trials)
interest	The degree of apparent interest in the training materials (whether the child eagers to learn during treatment sessions)
motivation	The degree of the apparent initiative before treatment sessions (whether the child appears to want to participate in training)					