

Figure C: Estimation of the tube current using several types of signal normalisation: Ag in L electron shell, Cu in K electron shell, Ar in K electron shell and inelastic-scattering. These can be used as proxies for the current in the tube.