

ORCID Open Source Contributions

Contribution type	Who may contribute	Acceptance criteria	Current and past contributions
Board membership	Individuals from ORCID member organizations in good standing (two places are available for researchers from non-member organizations)	Nominations are invited in April each year, with a deadline of August 1 for submitting the completed nomination form. More information is available at About Board elections	See https://orcid.org/content/orcid-team#board
Community working group/ task force membership	Anyone with subject matter expertise	Volunteers are recruited via blog posts, on the ORCID website, in person, and by recommendation	See https://orcid.org/about/community
Software/ code	Anyone with subject matter expertise	ORCID quality assurance, code compatibility and acceptance testing; Agreement from contributor to support contribution for at least one year. https://github.com/ORCID/ORCID-Source/blob/master/CONTRIBUTING.md	See https://github.com/ORCID/ORCID-Source/blob/master/CREDITS.md
Translation/ translation review (ORCID Registry and outreach resources)	Native language speakers who are proficient in English language	New language translations require support from one or more ORCID members in the country/region (ideally, but not necessarily an ORCID consortium). Work must be done using Transifex (ORCID will provide further information), including a community review of the translation by another individual. Individual/organization expected to commit to maintaining translation for at least two years.
