

Consent requested and introductory information provided

Participants split into two groups such that half would one trial order and the other the reverse.

The hidden elements are the 32 trials in the experiment. Plus the manipulation check and a debrief form.