

Supplemental Figure 1: Scree Plot

Text 1 Supplement

The unrotated factor analysis produces two factors with larger loadings (eigenvalues greater than two). Figure 1 shows a scree plot of the eigenvalues, with a substantial drop off after the second factor and a relatively slow decline in eigenvalues thereafter, supporting a two dimensional solution. The Kaiser criterion similarly points to a two dimensional solution.