

Adding the Census help desk system to your website

If you'd like to help reduce time spent answering common questions regarding the Census, add this tool to your website!

There are a variety of questions asked every time the Census comes around; why do we do it? How often do we do it? What impact does it have on my community? While we're all glad to help educate the public on the importance of the Census, having a way to reduce the time spent answering common questions allows us to focus more on the actual Census itself. That's why we recommend you add the Census outreach help desk tool to your website; it will answer frequently asked questions for your visitors, saving you time and getting them the answers they want quicker!

If you are comfortable adding code to your website yourself, you can find instructions on adding the help desk system here.

If you'd prefer to have assistance in adding the help desk system to your website, just visit this page for more information.

