

Chapter 4: Ask it in the Form of a Question, Please: Developing Questions and Creating Groups

Chapter 4 presents the structures and importance of forming questions. Part of the process is to consider how to select objects to be studied. Another part of the process is how we form the groups from the population to try to answer the questions we form? This is our first discussion of sampling.