Rapport is a desirable strategy for developing a collaborative therapeutic relationship

Relationship rapport is necessary but not sufficient

But cognitive techniques are also essential Core conditions are critical

Client-therapist Rapport

Cognitive:

Therapeutic Relationship

Is it ethical to change minds?

Problems with CT

What happens when problem cognitions are logical?

Collaborative empiricism is crucial to correct faulty cognitive processes experienced by the client

Who decides which cognitions to test?